NOTEWORTHY EVENT
IN LOCAL HISTORYWealth of Floral Decorations
Add to Beauties of New
House on SundayTHOUSANDS STAND IN LINE
IN RAIN TO ATTEND SHOWLuncheon and Banquet for Theater Folk Held in EveningOne of the most beautiful theaters in the northwest and the largest picture house in western Wisconsin, the opening of the Elvira theater in North Fourth street yesterday was an epochal event in the theatrical history of La Crosse.Despite the rain, long lines of people which at times stretched from the theater entrance to Main street, blocked traffic on the west side of Fourth street for hours Sunday afternoon and evening.Over 6,000 persons attended the theater yesterday and enjoyed a fine program and commended in enthusiasm the beautiful decorations and facilities of the big new house.
Officers of the La Crosse Theaters company were showered with congratulations during the day.

Wealth of Flowers

The floral decorations, sent by film men, booking agents and other theater folk who have had business connections with the theater company,
were especially elaborate and beautiful. Hundreds of dollars worth of flowers, in huge bouquets and other designs and clusters, flanked the entrance and stage. Carl Schaefer of the Salsar Seed company had charge of the floral decorations.Walter Goetzinger, popular organist, gave an inspiring and beautiful program on the $20,000 pipe organ
which was built according to his own specifications. The effects produced on the new organ are wonderful, and Mr. Goetzinger's playing yesterday was an artistic triumph.

Two Big Functions

Two noteworthy social events
marked the celebration of the opening of the new theater yesterday. At 6 o'clock officers of the La Crosse Theaters company and visiting theatrical representatives who came from various points, attended a Dutch luncheon at Stephan's Inn.At 11 o'clock Sunday night an elaborate banquet was given in the theater. W. F. Hurlbert served as master of ceremonies. In characteristic style, Mayor A. A. Bentley, in behalf of the guests congratulated
the officers of the theater company for their enterprise and vision in building a big-city theater here.
Toasts were responded to by many of the visitors.The out of town guests at the banquet were: Mr. H. S. Rosenbluth, St.
Paul; H. G. Kopelman, Select Pictures Corporation; C. H. MacMillan, Gallatin; J. E. O'Leary, district manager of Select; Robert Corbin, Gold-

SECOND EXPLOSION IS PREDICTED

HERE IS FISCHER

E. P. FISCHER

The first photograph of E. P. Fischer, rushed from Hamilton, Ont., Canada, shows him as he looks today. This photo was taken in Hamilton when Fischer was placed under arrest in connection with his warning notes to friends to stay out of Wall street because an explosion was plotted.
Fischer is an expert tennis player.VICTORY NEAR SAYS
MAYOR MACSWINEY
IN MESSAGE TODAYIreland Fighting Last Battle for Liberty and Success Will Come, He SaysEXPRESSES FORGIVENESS TO THOSE CAUSING HIS DEATHDeclares Action Will Leave Stain
on Name of EnglandLONDON, Sept. 20.—Terence Mac-Swiney of Cork, had a bad night
and was very weak this morning, according to a bulletin issued by the Irish Self Determination league. The bulletin stated that Annie MacSwi-ney, sister of the lord mayor, had just left Brixton prison, where he today began the thirty-ninth day of his hunger strike, and declared his condition was unchanged except for the weakness incident to his long fast.The physician at Brixton prison reported to the home office that the lord mayor's condition was virtually unchanged.Lord Mayor MacSwiney last night wrote a message to Irishmen throughout the world on behalf of himself and the hunger strikers in Cork jail.
After thanking them for their sympathy and prayers, the lord mayor
said, according to the London Times:
"If this cold-blooded murder is pushed through it will leave a stain on the name of England which has no parallel (even in her history) and which nothing will ever efface. It will rise before the English people, whenever they offer another people friendship. I will feel singularly privileged at being made an instrument of God for evoking such worldwide expressions of admiration and support for the cause of Irish independence and recognition of the Irish republic. If we are to die we are called to that even greater privilege and happiness of entering the company of those who died for Ireland.""We forgive all those who are compassing our death. This battle is being fought with clean hearts, purely for our country. We have made our peace with God and bear ill-will toward no man."After invoking God's blessing upon all who prayed for the prisoners,
MacSwiney concluded by saying:
"I believe God is watching over our country, and by His Divine decree, her resurrection is at hand. I believe this is her last battle for liberty and that God will crown it with complete victory."

promise CandidateMADISON, Wis., Sept. 20.—The four political parties of the state will hold state conventions in Madison at noon Tuesday. The republican convention will be the star convention.Four men appear as possible candidates for the state chairman of the republican state platform convention
which convenes here Tuesday at noon.
Their names are: Dwight Parker,
Fennimore; Frank Davidson, Milwaukee; Lawrence C. Whitell, Edgemo-nd; and George Widula, Milwaukee.George West, the present state chairman, is not a candidate. Parker is being brought forward by the forces back of John J. Blaine, and is said to be the personal choice of Mr.
Blaine as chairman of the committee.
Mr. Whitell is said to be a compromise candidate.Different groups are working on the platform planks today. It is the foregone conclusion that the convention will endorse Harding for president and Coolidge for vice president.
A demonstration will be staged at the park hotel Tuesday morning with the band and lithographs favoring Harding and Coolidge.It is said that some of the leaders have already agreed upon many of the planks of the platform. The present plan is to convene the convention,
listen to the roll call and then divide into separate committees for selection of one member from each congressional district to serve upon resolutions committee to adopt the platform.The democratic convention will be called by John Hume. The meeting of the socialist and prohibition parties will be largely perfunctory as both of these parties have practically drafted their platforms some months
ago.BRAZILIAN CAPITAL

GETS WARNING
IN MAIL TODAYAttempt to be Made to Blow up
U. S. Customs House Says
Postcard Signed by
"Citizen"FISCHER IS BROUGHT TO
NEW YORK AS A WITNESSMan Who Warned Friends of Disaster Has Premonition
of Second ExplosionNEW YORK, Sept. 20.—A postcard warning that an attempt would be made tomorrow to blow up the customs house, after the Wall street explosion last Thursday, was received in the mail today by William B. Edwards, collector of internal revenue
for this district.This postcard, signed "A Citizen," was turned over to the custodian of the building, Mr. Edwards, who also notified Postmaster Thomas G. Paterson. The department of justice, too, was informed of the receipt of the postcard.

Hoax Says Edwards

The warning said that the customs house, already under heavy guard,
would be blown up at 2 p. m. Mr.
Edwards said that a preliminary investigation had shown no evidence of a plot and he was inclined to regard the warning as a hoax.A few minutes before the warning
postcard had been received Edwin P.
Fischer, ex-tennis player, who sent warnings of the first explosion on the strength of an alleged telegraphic "tip" had declared at police headquarters on his arrival here from Canada that
"more will happen in the future."
"Unseen powers had communicated that to me," he said.

Probe is Begun

The September grand jury was convened today to investigate the explosion that shook the financial district
last Thursday and exacted a toll of 34 lives and injury to nearly 300 others. Subpoenas were issued for the appearance of scores of witnesses of the blast.Included among those to be examined was Edwin P. Fischer, arrested in Canada. Fischer has testified to having sent warnings of the disaster to friends here, but authorities attach little significance to his story
because of his recognized eccentricities.

Release Russian

The police announced today release of Alexander Brailovsky, detained after he had admitted he was near the scene of the explosion soon after it occurred. The department of justice denied reports that Brailovsky had been turned over to them. Both local and federal authorities declare they had found there was no evidence on which to hold the Russian.Efforts to identify the owner of the horse which drew the wagon supposed to carry the infernal machine
were continued.

Identify Unknown

The body of the one victim of the explosion which had remained unde-tified was recognized by the morgue
today by Mrs. Olive Kehrer of Brooklyn, as her son Elmer Wallace Kehrer, 21 years old, chauffeur.Morris Davis, superintendent of the volunteer hospital, after extensive examination of clothing of the victims of the explosion, declared that the theory that someone may have been near enough to the explosion to have been blown to atoms has been negated.The grand jury investigating the explosion adjourned after hearing a number of witnesses who described
"explosive wagons all over downtown
New York" on the day of the Wall street blast. Assistant Attorney General Tuley announced. The jury will meet again tomorrow.It was learned that explosives for some time had been conveyed to the front of Wall street for dredging operations in the East river. Mr. Tuley said, adding that as late as last Friday, the day after the explosion, explosives had been carted through
New York to that point.

Fischer in New York

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—Edwin P.

star, who was detained in Hamilton,
Ontario, in connection with his postcard warnings of the Wall street explosion, arrived here today in cus-

throughout Lanarkshire that leaders of the Scottish communist movement have planned a sensational coup to be sprung at Blan-
tyre, southeast of Glasgow, says
a dispatch from Hamilton, Scotland."It is asserted the cashiers and officials have been bludgeoned and that seizure of the coal pits is imminent and that it is proposed to establish a soviet system of mining controls," the dispatch
adds.POLISH-LITHUANIAN DISPUTE PUT UP TO
THE LEAGUE COUNCILWill Suspend Hostilities Pending Inquiry and Decision on Issues at StakeRUSSIA PREPARING NEW PUSH ON NORTHWEST FRONTReds Driven Out of Eastern Galicia on Southern SectorPARIS, Sept. 20.—Poland and Lithuania have agreed to suspend hostilities, pending inquiry and decisions
on the issues at stake by the council of the league of nations. It was announced here today.The Polish-Lithuanian accord came after the council had adopted a resolution calling on the countries to cease hostilities immediately. The resolution asked Lithuania to adopt a provisional line of the frontier fixed by the supreme council in December last and withdraw her troops from the territory to the west of the line
while Poland was asked during its war with soviet Russia to respect the neutrality of the territory occupied by Lithuania east of the line of demarcation fixed by the supreme council.Acceptance of the league's arbitration came in a dramatic manner
at the public meeting of the council today. Delegates and spectators seemed pessimistic as to the probability of an agreement being reached, when Jemce Jan Paderewski, Polish delegate to the league of nations, arose
and made a speech in which he said
Poland desired to be in complete peace with Lithuania and had full confidence that Lithuania also desired peace.

Accept League Mediation

The Lithuanian delegates, headed by Foreign Minister Woldemar, walked over to the Polish delegates and warmly shook hands with them amid cheering by the spectators and delegates, marking the first instance in which the league's mediation has been accepted by countries virtually in a state of war.Finland also ironed out her difficulties with the council by accepting,
with certain reservations, the report of the council on the Aland Islands
question, which calls for an investigation by three commissioners.Leon Bonczkowski, the French representative, asserted that submission of the Lithuanian-Polish and Aland Islands dispute to the council was the best urgency which had developed for the future of the league of nations.The council today approved the purchase of the Hotel National in Geneva
at the future home of the league. Definitive transfer of the districts of Eupen and Malmedy to the sovereignty of Belgium was recognized, following an investigation of the protests filed by Germans against the plebiscites.

Prepare New Drive

WARSAW, Sept. 20.—By The Associated Press.—The Russians are concentrating heavy forces along the Niemen river beyond the Polish northeastern front preparatory to an offensive which is expected to begin within a few days, according to military attaches at the front.The soviet commanders have brought up all the available artillery
airplanes, tanks and other apparatus of warfare, and according to reports Leon Trotsky, the soviet minister of war, has arrived at Lida, south of Vilna, to direct the operation.The reports declare the concentrations under way include parts of the Russian workingmen's army, which have been well supplied with arms and ammunition for a push designed to drive the Poles back before the beginning of cold weather from the ground recently gained.The war office today announces that local fighting has taken place on the Lithuanian front.

Driven From Galicia

WARSAW, Sept. 20.—Russian bolshevik forces have been driven out of Eastern Galicia by a general advance along the southern front.The advance was begun four days ago. The Poles, fighting their way eastward, have reached the line of the lower Zbruch, capturing Trembolja, Tarnopol and Brody.Further north they took the fortress of Dubno after heavy fighting and are advancing in the direction of the fortress of Rowno, the capture of which is expected shortly.PREDICT BREAKING OF TRACK

ITALY'S REVOLUTION

WHAT can revolutionary leaders do when their own government refuses to fight them and invites them to work out their salvation as best they may? That is the baffling problem Premier Giolitti has presented to the Italian bolsheviks. They are seizing factories and mills and hoisting the red flag. Giolitti tells them they must settle affairs with the owners of the plants, as a matter of civil procedure.

That is to say, the Italian government refuses to permit the employers to use the army as their weapon. The army is not an instrument for settling disputes about ownership. That is Giolitti's ruling. His wisdom is beyond question. The direct action hotheads must be given a chance to cool off.

Perhaps, when everybody's ardor abates, as always happens eventually in Italy, the majesty of the law can safely summon troops to uphold the rights of ownership. But, if that solution be attempted too quickly, it will play into the hands of the bolshevik leaders.

The Italian workmen, having seized the tools of their trades, are being invited to improve on the system they are trying to supplant. The owners of factories and mills have announced, meanwhile, that they will not be responsible for any work done nor for credit granted. This, the real answer to the revolutionary seizure of factories and mills has been the stoppage of all executive work.

The direct actionists have always scoffed at executive work. The hour has now come when they must try to get results without it. In the short time the revolution has been under way they have failed to do so. Wages are not being paid and work lags. Food is no more plentiful than before.

REAL LITERATURE

WHAT has become of the old-fashioned boy who liked his literature raw? Who read his Captain Collier behind the dog-eared geography because it was the biggest book in school? Who knew his Deadwood Dick almost by heart and was ready to swap a dime novel any time for a couple of half-dime Boodles?

What's become of him? He's president of the big railway company; the chief engineer of the locomotive work; the "main squeeze" of the great firm of architects; he's the head of the soundest legal firm in town. That's what's become of him. And his son would be following in his footsteps if he had half a chance.

And what's become of the little lady of the piglits, who ran away to the garret or locked herself in a room and devoured whole or pieced "Kidnaped at the Altar," and "A Bride for a Day," and "Aleta's Terrible Secret," and "A Handsome Engineer's Flirtations," and "Was She Sweetheart or Wife," and "Della's Handsome Lover," and "Flora Garland's Courtship," and "The Loan of a Lover," and "A Working Girl's Honor," and "Sold for Gold," and "Her Passionate Love"?

What's become of her? She's the wife of the president of the big locomotive works, or of the railway president, or of the star of the local architects. Human nature is the same now as it was then. Give 'em a chance and they'd like red-blooded stories today.

RED GOLD

THE London Daily Herald is one of the extremist labor journals contributing to the unrest of the workers in England.

Recently it has grown more radical, more bolshevistic.

And while it has become more acceptable to the "reds," it has met with less favor in the ranks of the large majority of conservative labor folk of Great Britain.

Just the other day an interesting fact concerning the Daily Herald was disclosed. It was accused of accepting bribery gold from the Russian bolsheviks. The Daily Herald admitting that it had received a Russian "subsidy," maintained that the gold was merely a "propaganda missionary."

Now it is clear to all of England why the Daily Herald leaned so heavily to the bolshevik side.

The London Daily Mail insists, and has evidence to back up its charge, that this bolshevik gold was obtained in London by Trade Commissioner Kamanoff of the Russian bolshevik government, through the sale of stolen jewels. These jewels, the loot of bolsheviks' robberies in Russia, now are spending themselves in a vain effort to overturn a government the people of Britain themselves erected for themselves.

The London Post says this is "the most disgraceful episode in British journalism." It is!

But the Daily Herald episode is a mere drop in the bucket. Who can believe that Russian Reds have not sent stolen gold to others in England, in the United States, and elsewhere? Who can believe that Lenin would be content with the bribing of one labor journal?

As long as jewels and other private property may be stolen, and the bolsheviks have made themselves the greatest robbers the world ever has known, attempts to bribe uncountable must have been made. Who can say that American bolsheviks, orators, plotters, journals, have not soiled their hands with stolen gold from Russia.

Call it "subsidy" if you will!
Call it "propaganda missionary" if you like!
But it is bribery, nevertheless.

GRABSKI OF POLAND

THE Polish minister of finance, says America must continue lending Poland financial and economic assistance, and perhaps even military aid. Otherwise, he declares, the $169,000,000 America already has loaned Poland will be thrown away, for the bolsheviks will get it.

The name of this minister of finance is Grabski.

They name their ministers well in Poland.

A New York modiste has bequeathed $400,000 to build a home for aged dressmakers. A place, it is to be supposed, in which "They all may bask in the seamless joy where button-holes do not annoy."

Culture is a difference in shade. London and Browning are associated memories, but so are Philadelphia and Reading.

Just when you thought the world was getting back to normalcy, along comes the report of fur-trimmed bathing suits.

There are still some people in Ireland who are not prejudiced, but who dislike oranges, unless they are green.

Will 17,000,000 women voters force the installation of mirrors in the polling places before November 2?

In Ye Olden Times

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY

In the excitement which followed Frank E. Smith's attack on the board of public works for neglect to repair the clogged intake pipe instead of disjoining it, thus forcing upon the city a supply of water from a pocket near the shore in which an eddy revolves, scores of people flocked to the river to view the condition of the intake pipe.

The water department has equipped the fountain at the corner of Fifth and Main streets with a sanitary cup.

President William Doerflinger of the board of trade has added three members to the committee on constitution and by-laws. All members will meet tomorrow night at the La Crosse club to re-edit the constitution.

Health Officer A. M. Murphy, who attended the convention of the American Health Association in Milwaukee recently, is back and reports that delegates from all over the United States and Canada were present.

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

The tabulation of last year's assessment on a comparative basis shows that real estate here has fallen off $38,822 owing to the removal of the La Crosse Lumber company, the John Paul Lumber company and the Sawyer and Austin mill.

A committee has been appointed here to raise a fund to send to the sufferers from the Galveston flood in expression of this city's sympathy.

President A. J. Darling of the Milwaukee road, Roswell Miller and H. R. Williams, executives, arrived here last night to inspect the extensive work of re-grading the La Crosse division, which is at present almost completed at a cost of nearly $1,000,000.

Inclement weather has interfered to a great extent with the work of paving Main street and it is doubtful if the contract to finish the work by November 15 can be carried out.

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY

The ordinance which was introduced at the council last week by Alderman Kelly, to apportion $7,500 among the fire departments of the city, will come up for final consideration tomorrow night. At present the volunteer fire-fighters receive a remuneration of twelve cents a week.

Everything was found to be in good working order when the city council made the annual inspection of the fire department this morning.

S. Wisterhause has announced himself as candidate for superintendent of the schools of La Crosse county.

La Crosse loggers who were expecting to put in logs on the Indian reservation in Court Orelles section are likely to be shut out the coming winter. The government is considering withholding permission to lay out tracts there.

AN AUTOMATIC ROMANCE

BY MARY MORISON

It was June—the month of roses and brides and hurdy-gurdies. "Il Trovatore" mingled with the cries of the street vendors—"Strawberries, sweet strawberries!" June even found its way through the revolving doors of that ornately furnished lunch room, the "Automatic."

Masie Gallagher, romantically mauling a sandwich, looked up suddenly and caught the eye of a young man seated across the table, separated from her by two feet of mission furniture, a vinegar cruet, sugar bowl, a bottle of tomato catsup and a salt cellar.

Something told Masie that this man was not an inmate of the automatic. His well-cut clothes, his deliberately turned mustache and his nicely manicured hands proclaimed him "different."

All of a sudden she was glad her new straw hat was so becoming and that the floorwalker at Tuppen's had given her an extra half hour for lunch. And because it was June she smiled faintly at the young man.

"I say," he removed the bottle of catsup from between them and leaned eagerly forward. "You don't look as if you belong to this 5-cent place. I'll wager the hotel waiter at the Plaza is serving a table by the window for you this minute. What's the answer? Out for experience—to see how the other half lives?"

Temptation nudged Masie Gallagher's elbow and came and encoined itself in her bosom, aided and abetted by her vivid imagination and an assiduous reading of the novels of one Robert Chambers. She encoined.

"I'm sorry I show it so plainly," she said to the young man with a deprecating air. "We are spending a few days at the Plaza before our usual summer at Newport." And, with her elbows on the table, rather confidentially, "I've always wanted to see the inside of this place, you know. The cakes and omelets they have in the window look so perfectly entrancing as I go by in the motor. If I hadn't been afraid of shocking the chauffeur I'd have stopped long ago. But we've packed him off to the country, so I seized today's opportunity."

They smiled delightedly into each others' eyes, and then Masie said: "But what about you? What are you doing here?"

"The same thing," he replied, giving his mustache a deliberate caress with his beautiful hands. "I'm stopping at the club over on 51st street, seeing the same fellows, eating the same rich food day after day, until I'm sick to death of it. Besides, here I'm out of town, off on a motor trip, and the house is shut up tight as a drum—so there's nothing else to be done. I'm mighty glad I decided to give myself a contrast at the automatic today—mighty glad!"

The young man's compliment was so unmistakable and the admiration in his eyes so evident that a most becoming blush mounted to Masie Gallagher's pretty face.

"Isn't it funny we've never met before," he continued, making a mental note of the blush.

"Well—not really," replied Masie shamelessly. "You see, we don't go out socially at all. My father is the most terrific old autocrat in New York and he says that Paris and Rome are the only places he will allow me to go out in. So, of course, I have missed all the nice things here. This was really the dash of Masie, as she was not quite sure whether Paris and Rome were really places where one did "go out" or not; but the admiring and respectful manner in which the young man looked at her was reassuring.

An open house life always mixes the bitter with the sweet, the big white clock on the wall of the Automatic forced Masie's line of vision. One direct glare, in fifteen minutes, she would be due behind the ribbon counter at Tuppen's. She rose.

"I had no idea it was so late," she said. "I have a fitting at Tuppen's which I must not miss. Newport means so many stupid clothes," and she shrugged her shoulders wearily, as did all the heroines of Robert Chambers. She held out her hand.

"So glad to have met you," she murmured.

"But you haven't told me your name," exclaimed the young man, holding on to the little hand, determination in his admiring eyes. "I must see you again, you know. I can't go to the plaza and ask for the prettiest most unusual and most attractive daughter of an abominable old autocrat, can I?" They'd recognize whom I meant, of course, but they might think I had just escaped from an asylum. Please!" he pleaded.

"I'm sorry," said Masie Gallagher, daughter of Tim Gallagher, of the New York police force, "but it's better not. I don't know it or know where I've met you and there would be an awful row. Good-by—and, with a heartiest resentment of the station in life to which it had pleased God to call her, Masie made her way back to the ribbon counter. That delicate, aristocratic moustache burned her memory and her heart.

She sold five yards of blue ribbon to a plump old lady, who wanted it "charged and taken," and she shrugged her shoulders wearily, as did all the heroines of Robert Chambers. She held out her hand.

"Just a minute, please," requested Masie listlessly, her mind far away. "The floorwalker must sign for it." And she cried shrill and loud:

SCHOOL COUNCIL WITH ART PRESIDENT HELPS CELEBRATE VICTORIES

(Sixth and Last Day of Story)

George Jeffries had beat Art to it. But Art didn't care, even though he had spent two hours the evening before working out a nice logical speech that would convince the whole high school of the need for a student council.

Jeffries was a leader and always would be, because he knew what to do at critical times. It was his big quality, a quality of real leadership. When everyone had recovered from his surprise, a big murmur started. Tom Talmadge arose, "Jeffries is right," he said, "I am back of him."

It was enough. The members of the Klan began to fall in line. Art had won his cause without ever presenting it. In a few minutes he found himself elected president of the new Oakdale High School Council, and there were cries of "Speech! Speech!"

Art made a short speech. It was remarkable how the spirit of the whole school was changed.

Tub Perkins arose when he had finished. "M-M-Mr. P-P-President," he s-s-spluttered, "I m-m-move that we ask Coach Murray to l-let George and Art back on the t-team." There was wild applause and the motion passed with a volley of cheers.

Of course Coach Murray did it, and into the next game the team went with a bang. Jeffries had lost none of his brilliancy, and Talmadge none of his speed. Both played with a new kind of determination and pep. The team couldn't be stopped. Of course it was a victory.

The two defeats were forgotten, and the season hurried on to a victorious close.

In the meantime Art Talmadge and his student council were busy. New things were on foot in that high school, one of which was a big party to be held on the night of the last game, the Saturday before Thanksgiving.

Was it a party? Well, I guess yes.

And, where? In the headquarters of the departed Klimacks Klan in a room that the members of the Klan had dedicated as the club room to be managed under the supervision of the council.

The room was crowded with boys and girls, and with happiness too.

"Mr. Foster! Mr. Foster!"

"For Pete's sake, Masie," said Clara Oppenheim, who also said ribbons at Tuppen's department store. "Don't you know Foster's gone. There's a new man—Mr. Pidgeon."

"Oh, well, keep you hat on, Clara. I didn't know it," replied Masie indignantly. She couldn't be a Robert Chambers heroine all the time.

"Mr. Pidgeon! Mr. Pidgeon!" she called.

A South American Revolutionist, in New York to buy war supplies, secretly, called back the following message to his commander:

The real message contains only four words. Can you read it?

STUDY HELPS

An Idea Book

Isn't it provoking to see the boy across the aisle busily writing the second page of his theme while you sit chewing your pencil, drawing little pictures on the margin of the paper, writing a few different sentences, but without any idea that you can work into a real good theme?

Ideas are not rare. The trouble is that they are likely to come at the wrong time. Try keeping an idea page in your notebook. When you happen to think of some unusually good hunch for a story write it down there. It may come to you as a result of some game played at recess. Maybe it will be a remark made by Dad at dinner. Maybe it will be a dream—authors have dreamed the plots of stories.

Write these ideas down. They are your own and your own are a whole lot better than ones that you may "borrow" from some book you have on your desk.

Which are the lightest men, Irishmen, Scotchmen or Englishmen?

(Answer to yesterday's: The Germans are the lightest and oddest of all because they are Teutonic (two tonic).)

"Right here," said a familiar, carefully modulated voice in her ear. Masie was looking into the aristocratic face of the man in the Automatic.

"Good Lord! The Plaza and Newport!" he muttered, as he signed for the ribbon.

"Mr. Clawd! The Club!" gasped Masie, as she handed it over to the plump purchaser.

But as they stood there in amazement, Masie saw the same deep au-

THREE YEAR OLD GIRL WRITES POEMS OF HER OWN; COMPOSES TUNES

(True Story of a Real Girl)

Little Phyllis Joyce of Webster Avenue, New Rochelle, N. Y., claims to be the young poetess in the world. Phyllis, who according to her mother, is only two months past her third birthday, has already made up several little poems and moreover, has composed little tunes to fit them.

Phyllis cannot read or write, and all her poems are dictated to older members of the family. She keeps the tunes in her own head until some musical friend writes down the notes.

"But, Phyllis has been precocious in all ways," said Mrs. Joyce, "she walked when she was eight months, talked plain English at twelve months, and could count to twenty before she was a year old."

Here is one of the poems which Mrs. Joyce says Phyllis composed by herself:

Tinka Tink
Tinka tink, Tinka tink,
By the light of a star,
On the cool river brink,
I tink my guitar.

GIRLHOOD STORIES OF FAMOUS WOMEN

Helen Hunt Jackson

Sitting on the edge of a casket outside the church door were two tired, dirty little girls. They had run away from home, and, seeing buggies all going in one direction, had joined the funeral too.

A buggy stopped, in front of them and out jumped two college professors who were in search of the children. "Let me down," shrieked Helen, as a pair of strong arms lifted her into the buggy. But she was only held the faster and after a four-mile drive was in the arms of her frantic mother.

This little girl was Helen Hunt Jackson, whose famous novel, "Ramona," did for the Indians what Harriet Beecher Stowe's "Uncle Tom's Cabin" did for the slaves.

OUSTED SOCIALISTS IN NEW YORK AGAIN NAMED TO ASSEMBLY

Whether Expelled Members Shall be Seated up to Assembly to Decide

FIVE SOCIALISTS FOUND GUILTY OF DISLOYALTY

Many Members Hold to Same
Views and Will Oppose Seating

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 20.—Interest in the housing shortage which the legislature has been called to consider in special session tonight, was subordinated today to a discussion of what action the assembly would take regarding the five expelled socialists, re-elected last week to fill their own vacancies. The socialists—Louis Waldman and August Claassen of New York; Samuel A. De Witt and Samuel Orr of the Bronx; and Charles Solomon of Kings—were found guilty of disloyalty last April.

Some assembly members who voted to oust the socialists have said they have not changed their views. Some, it is said, will offer resolutions tonight to deny again the socialists their seats just as Congress did in the case of Victor L. Berger, socialist, elected from Wisconsin and re-elected after he had been prohibited from taking his seat.

Attorney General Newton said today the seating or unseating of the socialists was a matter for the assembly to decide. The attorney general further said:

"These men were expelled because they were members of a party which during the trial, was found to be disloyal and opposed to our form of government. Since the trial I understand the socialists have eliminated or amended the un-American clauses of their constitution."

The Screen

AT THE THEATERS TODAY
Rivoli—Norma Talmadge in "Yes or No."
Majestic—Billie Burke in "Away Goes Prudence."
La Crosse—Dorothy Dalton in "Guilty of Love."
Bijou—Priscilla Dean in "A Silk Lined Burglar."
Casino—Under Northern Lights, all star cast.
Strand—Earle Williams in "The Fortune Hunter."
Halt—William Russell in "A Live Wire Hick."

RIVOLI
The Rivoli theater, La Crosse's newest and finest, opened to the public yesterday with Norma Talmadge in "Yes or No." From 2 o'clock until 9:30 the crowds continued to come. At precisely 2:30 Walter Goetzinger started the overture for the first time, at the finish of which he received a great ovation. The applause continued throughout the showing of the scenic feature and the comedy, which was accompanied with coloratura music.

The feature picture, "Yes or No," followed the comedy. Norma Talmadge certainly lives up to her title in this picture. "America's foremost emotional picture." Her work in the dual role in this picture is marvelous, playing the two distinct roles at one time. "Yes or No" is from the stage play by Arthur Goodrich and carries a lesson with it. It is a picture every man or woman, young or old, should see, you will feel better and be better for it.

A very good Robert Bruce scenic and "Four Times Told," an animal comedy, completes the bill. The best show that has been in town in months.

LA CROSSE
Dorothy Dalton in "Guilty of Love," opens at the La Crosse today. It is an appealing drama of youth and its joys and follies. The story is adapted from Avery Hopwood's stage success, "This Woman—This Man." The heroine in "Guilty of Love" gives Miss Dalton just the type of emotional role for which she is best qualified. Edward Langford as the leading man, gives a good account of himself. "Run 'Em Ragged," a two reel Pollard and Paramount Magazine are also on the same bill.

MAJESTIC
Billie Burke returns to the screen after an absence of two months, in "Away Goes Prudence." The story is of a society girl who tired of society's frills, decides to do something different and exciting. She does and in the mixup is arrested with a gang of burglars. In the end she finds the man that she really loves and her father helps her out of a rather awkward position. It is one of those delightful comedies that has made Billie Burke famous. At the Majestic starting today.

BIJOU
"A Silk Lined Burglar," starring Priscilla Dean, opens at the Bijou today. Crook plays are Miss Dean's long suit and we can always be sure of plenty of thrills and excitement when she appears in one of them. "A Silk Lined Burglar" is no different than the rest, it is full of thrills and gives Miss Dean a good chance to play the part of a high class girl crook, also showing her dexterity in a couple of instances where action was necessary. "Naghty Nurses," a two reel Hank Mann comedy, completes the bill.

CASINO
A story of a member of the north-west mounted police whose duty compels him to imprison the brother of the girl he loves; of the eternal struggle between love and duty, and the forces of lawlessness and order, is a thumb nail theme of "Under Northern Lights." The story is somewhat time-worn but the acting is carried out in such a manner as to make one forget the theme. It is a good picture and one everybody can enjoy. Episode 8 of the "Evil Eye" is also on the same bill.

Rare acid is sometimes found incrusting on the interior of volcanic craters.

CIVIL WAR VETERANS FROM OHIO CALL ON CANDIDATE HARDING

Senator Addresses Old Soldiers
Stopping Off on Way to National Encampment

MARION, O., Sept. 20.—Senator Harding, republican presidential nominee, delivered a front porch speech today to a delegation of 400 members of the Grand Army of the Republic who are enroute to attend the national encampment at Indianapolis. They came from northern Ohio cities.

Harding headquarters today made public a letter which the candidate has addressed to Michael J. Hallinan of Brockton, Mass., in answer to a letter from Mr. Hallinan and signed by Brockton labor men. The Hallinan letter declared the signers to be "Americans First and Members of organized labor second," opponents of the league of nations, and asserting that the Massachusetts state branch of the American Federation of Labor had gone on record three to one against the league.

Senator Harding's reply said in part:

"This has the ring of real Americanism and I am delighted with the testimony that organized labor has correctly estimated the significance of this issue. On this issue, organized and all other labor and all citizens are going to get together to end the submergence of our nation in internationalism. This issue, in my judgment, is doing more than anything else to draw together the real American and patriotic sentiment of the country and to wipe out all class and group distinctions. In the face of the menace of internationalism we are all Americans first. Our country will do its full share in the world, in its own way and time, but not under orders of any super-government dominated by alien interests."

TURK MINISTERS QUIT BECAUSE OF FAILURE TO EXECUTE TREATY

CONSTANTINOPLE—Sept. 20.—By The Associated Press.—Three members of the Turkish cabinet have resigned because of inability to bring about a compromise agreement with the Turkish nationalists, by which the treaty between Turkey and the allies may be carried out. Their action makes the selection of a new ministry necessary.

At a conference of princes of the imperial dynasty, yesterday, a resolution was adopted declaring the princes reserved the right to break their allegiance to the sultan. Prince Mehmed Zeliha Effendi, a cousin of the sultan, declared that until now he had declined offers to join the nationalists but added "as a sultan is apparently a servant of the grand vizier," he might change his mind.

The princes were offended because the apartments of Prince Effendi, heir presumptive to the throne, were searched recently. They declared the sultan was unable to protect his dynasty from insult.

GENOA.—Two bombs, similar to that exploded in the Stock Exchange were found in a livery stable.

$10.00 TO BE FARE FOR AIR-RIDES ALL NEXT WEEK

Want to see La Crosse from the air? Here's your chance! Step right up and get your tickets at the greatly reduced price of $10.00.

Usually during a time like fair week everybody charges "regular" prices with perhaps a little more for good luck. With a large fair week crowd, it was a sure bet that there would be many adventurous folks who would want to take a joy-ride in an honest-to-goodness airplane. It was pointed out to Norman Moll, our own professional "bird-man" that to show visitors the beauty of La Crosse from the air would be the very finest of advertising. So Moll, who is a public-spirited citizen, agreed to contribute his share to the good cause by reducing his usual fare to $10.00.

Those who are planning to "go up" are urged to make reservations in advance and avoid possible disappointment. Reservations can be made by phone, by calling 103, the La Crosse Overland Co.

It has been estimated that had there been no wars and epidemics, the present population of the world, 1,519,000,000 people, could have descended from a single couple in 1782 years.

GRAND ARMY MEN IN ANNUAL REUNION AT INDIANAPOLIS TODAY

Hall of Columbus, Ohio, commander-in-chief of the G. A. R., will respond.

Others to speak are Mrs. Alice Cary Risley, president of the National Association of Army Nurses of the Civil War; Mrs. Abbie Lynch, national president of the Women's Relief Corps; Mrs. Lillian Clark, national president of the Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic; Mrs. Clara Gilchrist Yongling, national president of the National Alliance, Daughters of Veterans; Harry D. ## CHARLOTTE HARTMAN BECOMES THE BRIDE OF ARTHUR W. JANDT

THE SOCIAL EVENT of the autumn season in this vicinity, took place at the Methodist Episcopal church of La Crosse on Thursday evening last. It was the wedding of Charlotte Hartman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Hartman of La Crosse, to Arthur W. Jandt of Bangor, Wis.

Rev. William E. Thompson read the ritual of the M. E. church and with the double ring service performed the ceremony.

The couple was attended by Miss Edna Hartman, sister of the bride, as maid of honor; Miss Sophie Hartman, cousin of the bride, as first bridesmaid; and George Jandt, cousin of the groom, as best man. Miss Evelyn Smith was second bridesmaid and Mr. John Arnes groomsmen.

The little Misses Vivian Pearl Yeiler and Alvin M. Huss were flower girls, and Master Edwin Lyle Yeiler was ring bearer.

Mr. Wyella Thompson sang the solo, "O Promise Me," accompanied by Miss Lee Krone as organist. Immediately before the pledging of faith, other to other. Following the ceremony, Miss Estella Atkinson sang, "I Love You Truly."

The bride is a well known La Crosse girl, having lived there for the past seven years. For four years she has been employed as bookkeeper at Spang's Mercantile company in this city.

The bridegroom is a prosperous young farmer of Bangor, since returning from service with the A. E. F. overseas. He was a member of the 24th Machine Gun battalion, Company C, and saw active service at Chateau Thierry, Oise River, Soissons, Belleau Wood, Meuse and Argonne Wood engagements, coming through without a scratch. He was among the first to set foot on German soil.

Promptly at seven o'clock Miss Florence L. Miller played Lohengrin's Wedding March as the bridal party approached the altar.

The bride's dress was cream georgette over satin with bridal veil. She carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses. The maid of honor wore turquoise blue georgette and had a corsage bouquet of pink roses. The first bridesmaid wore pink crepe de chine and carried white asters. The second bridesmaid was dressed in pale blue crepe de chine and carried pink roses.

Misses Reuben Yeiler and Joseph Leidl were ushers for the occasion. The decorations at the church consisted of green and white draping interspersed with small white wedding cake and miniature flags. A large white bell hung luxuriantly above the entrance. The altar was decorated with the wedding flowers. The bride and groom were seated in the front of the church. The wedding reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Hartman, 1201 George street, where a large number of guests were entertained. The bride and groom were accompanied by their parents and the bridesmaids and groomsmen. The reception was held from 7 to 10 o'clock.

The bride was the recipient of a large number of beautiful and useful gifts as well as money.

Famous Butter Expert Perfects Troco

New building, model of efficiency in margarine production

A. E. Hoffman is the man. He brings a lifetime of experience and a national reputation into this new field. For over 30 years he has made butter, judged butter and taught butter making and milk culture at leading dairy schools. He is called upon wherever dairy associations meet. Mr. Hoffman directs the details which now make Troco superior.

For this purpose, and with his counsel, we have built the most modern, up-to-date plant in the country designed exclusively for the manufacture of margarine. Built of concrete and white tile, it is provided with elaborate laboratory equipment and sanitary conditions which give full scope to his ability. In this ideal surrounding Mr. Hoffman produces perfected Troco, a fancy Troco which will delight with its sweetness and delicacy.

Troco is churned like butter, with pure, wholesome coconut fat replacing butter fat.

It gets its flavor from the same culture which flavors butter. Mr. Hoffman produces this culture in the Troco laboratory. It is the same which won his reputation in the butter world.

White meat of the coconut—pure, pasteurized milk

The basis of Troco is pure, tasteless, odorless coconut fat, derived from the white meat of coconuts.

This rich nut fat is very nutritious.

Many tropical races live and thrive on coconuts, their principal food.

Then this snowy neutral fat is churned with pasteurized milk—cultured to produce the famous flavor of perfected Troco.

We have personal knowledge of the herds which supply the Troco plant. This is a most important factor in achieving the standardizing of Troco flavor.

Standardized perfection

Every pound of Troco is guaranteed perfect in flavor and freshness when it leaves the Troco plant. If a pound reaches you in imperfect condition, we want to know it and remove the cause.

Because we intend to protect the reputation of Troco from the carelessness of handlers, we make this offer to users:

If ever you get a carton of Troco which isn't absolutely right, let us know and we will replace it.

But don't expect cut prices

Troco is the fancy grade of nut margarine. So like fancy butter it naturally commands a premium.

We will maintain this standard under all conditions and therefore Troco may at times cost a few cents more per pound.

Your dealer keeps Troco or will order it for you. Ask him—and don't accept any other brand.

NOTICE

Regarding Mr. Hoffman's services. Up to the time of his recent connection with the Troco Company, Mr. Hoffman's advice and counsel was greatly in demand by Agricultural Colleges, Dairy Schools and associations, educational organizations, women's clubs, etc. We wish him to continue this good work and his services will still be available for this purpose, with the hearty co-operation of this company.

FEDERAL AGENT GETS WARNING IN MAIL TODAY

Fischer, who was taken to police headquarters at once. Fischer, after laughing with a number of reporters while posing for news cameras, showed his way with the detectives to a lunch room where, he breakfasted, finishing the meal when he washed his face with a glass of water.

He stuffed into his pocket three cigars picked up from the Grand Central station floor, checking and explaining that he did not smoke, but his "friends did."

When posing for camera men he was asked to remove his hat.
"Have a heart!" he cried.
Requested to talk, he said:
"In hands of friends."

"I'm in the hands of my friends here," he added, referring to the detectives. "That's all I know. I don't know what sort of a statement you fellows want me to make. I don't know much to say."

Fischer's locality continued without a break throughout the excitement of his arrival.

When detectives said they had to make the combined aid of the mayor, sheriff, crown attorney, chief of police, United States consul, and the immigration authorities of both countries at Hamilton to get Fischer away, the former tennis star broke in:

"Yes, if it hadn't been for them I'd still be up in that damned place."

Fischer stuck to his statement that it was a "premonition" that warned him in advance of the Wall Street explosion, adding: "More will happen in the future. Fischer's powers have communicated that through me."

The detectives who brought him here from Hamilton explained that Fischer invariably had made the same assertions in reply to their questions throughout the trip, adding that he was a "friend of the underworld."

After grilling Fischer at police headquarters, it was announced several new leads in investigation of the explosion had been received from him. Fischer emerged sweating and quaking his brow.

Robert A. Pope, his brother-in-law, was waiting for Fischer, and the two men embraced. Fischer was then "finger printed" and taken to the district attorney's office. Pope said he believed both Fischer and Fischer's mother had psychic powers.

The police are still holding Fischer. All the investigators today agree that Fischer is a man well versed in all matters brought up in the inquiry, conversing intelligently.

He told the police that the Wall Street explosion made no appeal to his sympathy as he once was "a victim of Wall Street himself and could not feel sorry for anybody who suffered through the disaster."

Fischer was examined in the district attorney's office at some length, after which Assistant District Attorney Talley announced that he had arrived at the definite conclusion that Fischer "is crazy."

Guard Rockefeller Home
TAUNTON, N. Y., Sept. 20.—Twelve extra guards, armed with rifles, patrolled the roads adjoining the estate of John D. Rockefeller here last night, it became known today.

No statement could be obtained at the Rockefeller home regarding village gossip that a threatening letter had been received by the oil magnate. Two boys reported they had met two strange men who asked where Mr. Rockefeller lived and making speeches from their pockets and trying them on, inquired if they made much difference in their appearance. They said the men later left for New York in a taxi.

RESULT OF ILLINOIS PRIMARY ELECTION REMAINS IN DOUBT

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—Unofficial returns compiled today by Chicago newspapers from the majority of the 265 Chicago precincts still missing put Len Smith of Kankakee in the lead for the republican nomination for governor over Lieutenant Governor John G. Ozolsky, but with errors totaling several thousand already uncovered, the race is still so close that Ozolsky's backers are not willing to admit defeat.

Unofficial returns from many of the missing precincts indicate Congressman William B. McKinley's final plurality over Congressman Frank B. Smith in the republican senatorial race will be approximately 10,000.

CHILDREN SEARCHING FOR HICKORY NUTS FIND BODY OF MAN

OSTKOST, Wis., Sept. 20.—Children visiting the country in search of hickory nuts made a gruesome discovery late Saturday when they opened the door of an old barn on the unoccupied farm of J. E. Keene, about two miles north of this city. On the floor was the body of a dead man, whose identity has not been established. The district attorney and sheriff took charge. It is believed the remains are those of a tramp, about sixty years of age, and the body was so badly decomposed the officials think the man had been dead over a month. Indications were the man had made a bed of straw and had slept in the old barn, probably becoming ill and dying where he lay. His hat was hanging on a nail. Nothing was found to indicate foul-play and there was nothing on his person to reveal his identity. If no relatives are traced, the remains will be buried in the potter's field.

MOST OF VACATION STRIKERS REPORTED BACK ON THE JOB

HAZELTON, Pa., Sept. 20.—End of the "vacation strike" in the anthracite coal region today depends upon the attitude of the mine operators toward reinstating monthly men who quit in sympathy with the miners. This was indicated by reports to officials of the United Mine Workers, which showed that "vacationists" were returning in all districts except in the Schuylkill fields, where the hard coal diggers have voted to remain out until the operators have re-employed the "sympathy strikers."

Delightful railway officials announced prospects bright for a near normal output in this district.

Thomas Kennedy, president of the Hazelton district, said he expected word today regarding the reconvening of the committee to formulate plans to reopen the wage negotiations before Secretary of Labor Wilson.

All collieries with few exceptions will be operating by tomorrow in Hazelton districts, Kennedy said.

Exclusive Agencies Usually Charge More

Do you want to pay more for roofing simply because your dealer has an exclusive agency on it?

Certainly not.

But that is the usual result of the exclusive agency policy.

The dealer has no local competition on his brand and can take all the profit he can get. He usually has to send a long distance for supplies and so carries a large, expensive stock.

Certain-teed does not believe that such practices are fair to you. So Certain-teed sells to any reliable dealer.

With what result? Each dealer gets only a reasonable profit from each sale, but his total return is larger because of increased sales, quicker turn-over, and lower operating cost.

Certain-teed Is Highest Quality

But that isn't all. When you buy Certain-teed Roofing you get roofing that gives real protection. It is weather-proof, fire-retarding and spark-proof.

Certain-teed Roofing gives long service. It is guaranteed for 5, 10 or 15 years, according to weight. And Certain-teed has never been known to wear out on the roof.

Certain-teed is highest quality roofing and you can get it at a fair price.

Any responsible dealer can get it for you quickly from a nearby Certain-teed warehouse or jobber. He gets it when he wants it and he gets what he wants. He can afford to sell you at a fair price.

CHARLES H. UPHAM

Charles Henry Upham, formerly of De Soto, Wisconsin, died at 7 o'clock Wednesday evening, September 15, 1920, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. A. O. Spohn, 712 South Third street, La Crosse, Wis. Mr. Upham had been confined to his bed for a week but it was not thought that his illness was anything more than a severe cold.

Charles Henry Upham was born at Montevideo, Mass., June 24th, 1852, spending his earlier years in the Great Smoky Mountains in the Berkshire hills. At the age of 20 he came to De Soto, Wis., where he engaged in general merchandise for over 40 years. He was always prominent in public affairs, being village treasurer for about 25 years, serving on the school board and in the De Soto village government. He was active in church work and always foremost in everything of real benefit to the community. He came to La Crosse a year ago to reside with his daughter, Mrs. A. O. Spohn.

Mr. Upham came of New England ancestry. His ancestors, John and Elizabeth Upham, were members of the Hull Colony which immigrated from England in the year 1635, the colony under the leadership of Rev. John Hull, Congregational minister established itself at Weymouth, Mass.

Descendants of these ancestors helped to make New England history, and contributed their quota to the Colonial and Revolutionary armies.

Mr. Charles Upham, the deceased, was the last of a family of four brothers and one sister. He was married to Miss Eliza Buffe in 1880. His widow and two daughters, Mrs. A. O. Spohn, daughter of Galena, and Mrs. P. V. V. Marquandson of Harvey, Illinois, survive him.

The funeral was held at the home of his daughter, 712 South Third street, Friday, September 17th, 1920, at three o'clock p. m. Rev. Jerome Stedade of the South Presbyterian church conducting the services.

The interment at Greenwood cemetery in Galena was private.

Nelsons Start Scoring With One Run in First Inning

Having the short end of a 5 to 4 score in the ninth inning of the game at Black River Falls yesterday, the Nelson clothing company staged a pep rally for the locals, rapped a homer into center field scoring the two runs which won the game, 5 to 4. The game was one of the best witnessed in the north side diamond this season, holding the majority of the fans in spite of the rain.

The Nelsons started the scoring in the first inning with one in the first, but were unable to score again until the eighth, when they netted three. Black River Falls had led up a lead of 4 to 1 at the end of the fifth inning, but were unable to keep the advance of the locals in the eighth and ninth. Tanke did the scoring rapping of the game, getting home and two singles out of five batters, Krause was responsible for the Nelson's first run, scoring on a three bagger. Nelson's Jones, catcher and second baseman for the visitors, also were credited with three sackers. Stave, shortstop for the visitors, netted three singles out of four times at bat. The visitors touched Fitzke for eight runs, while the locals got six. Nickelson, on the mound for the falls, struck out seven men, allowing one to pass, while Fitzke struck out six and based one. ## WORLD RENOWNED MAT STAR TO PERFORM AT YEOMAN HALL TONIGHT

As a preliminary for the championship Webber-Reynolds match at the Yeoman hall tonight, Farmer Burns, world renowned wrestler, will appear in a lecture on physical training, and an exhibition showing various holds and locks, including the famous Gotch toe hold. Farmer Burns made his last appearance here several years ago with the Jeffries-Gotch combination. Burns and Reynolds arrived in town early yesterday morning.

The stage is all set for the go and indications point to an interesting bout. Webber, local challenger for the welterweight belt has been in training since his match with George Brandau here.

Jack reports that he has never been in better condition before a bout and is confident of a win over the champion tonight.

DODGERS TROUNCE PIRATES 4 TO 3

Robins Make Thrilling Ninth Inning Rally and Cop Victory

BROOKLYN, Sept. 20.—Brooklyn won Sunday's game with Pittsburgh by 4 to 3, in a thrilling ninth inning finish. With the score tied, Neis opened the Brooklyn half of the last inning with a double. He stole third on the first pitch and crossed the plate with the winning tally when Schmidt threw wild. The score was tied at the end of each inning up to the final one. Pfeffer and Cooper were batted hard in the first, then each settled down until the sixth, when Southworth's triple and Outshaw's single gave the Pirates a run. Johnston, first up for Brooklyn in the same inning, tied the score with a home run in the left field stand. The teams will play a postponed game on Monday. Score:

Pittsburgh . . . . .200 001 000—3
Brooklyn . . . . .200 001 001—4

Batteries: Cooper and Schmidt; Pfeffer and Miller.

Sox, 5; Athletics, 4

CHICAGO.—Chicago kept pace with Cleveland by defeating Philadelphia 5 to 4 on Sunday. Chicago apparently had tossed the game away in the early innings, but launched a drive in the sixth inning, which drove Rommel off the mound. Score:

Philadelphia . . . . .003 100 000—4
Chicago . . . . .000 104 000—5

Batteries: Perry, Rommel and Perkins; Kerr and Schalk.

Giants, 7; Reds, 6

NEW YORK.—New York outfronted Cincinnati in eleven innings, the first of a four game series which may decide which team remains in the almost hopeless chase after the Brooklyn leaders. The score was 7 to 6. The Giants won when Doyle walked and scored from first on Duncan's fumble of Snyder's hit to left field. All of the Red runs were due to homers. On Monday the teams will play a double header. Score:

Cincinnati . . . . .200 200 200 00—6
New York . . . . .303 000 000 01—7

Batteries: Luque, Combe and Wingo; Barnes and Douglas, Snyder.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal.—Sammy Bohne, recent purchase of the Reds, has a lot of nerve. He has tried to steal home seven times this season and made the play on six occasions.

Cushion Truck Tires

Many truck tire problems in many lines of business are answered by Firestone Cushion Tires.

They have added cushioning power needed for proper protection to your load and truck. They have the wearing strength needed for maximum mileage.

12% to 27% More Rubber

Firestone Cushion Tires have a greater volume of material. That is one reason why they ride easier. It is obvious, too, that this means longer wear. The extra wide tread provides approximately 20% more area of road contact—giving firmer traction under all conditions.

300% More Efficient in Heat Radiation

Overheating is a common danger to truck tire equipment. But Firestone engineers have evolved this special Cushion shape that lessens the strain through a different flexing of the rubber and gives a greater surface for heat radiation.

Any Truck Immediately Equipped

Firestone Cushion Tires are built to fit any S. A. E. base. No wheel changes necessary. The nearest Firestone truck tire dealer can apply them to your trucks and trailers without delay or added expense.

If you want resiliency plus extra-long wear, and if you want the practical economy of most miles per dollar, put on Firestone Cushion Tires. Made in all sizes.

WINTER WEAR
Winter weather means winter clothing, but it does not necessarily mean heavy underclothing for those who live in the steam heated haunts
of the city.

Those who live or work in temperatures from 68 to 70 degrees may find too heavy underclothes means discomfort and susceptibility to colds.

The two necessary requisites in sensible and healthful dressing of the body are to keep the skin dry and to give it air.

A certain amount of evaporation of moisture from the skin is constantly going on, to equalize the bodily heat.
If the underclothing is too heavy and tightfitting, it does not permit of sufficient circulation of air over the surface of the body. An excess of heat or a little unusual exercise will cause perspiration. If, in this condition, there be exposure to cold, the overheated parts may become chilled
and a cold is apt to result.

When some circulation of air is permitted, perspiration is disposed of by evaporation and the skin remains dry.

SWEATERS

IT'S so very easy to keep your sweater looking bright and new; to keep it from shrinking or discoloring; to keep it fluffy and soft; if you wash
it with Ivory Soap Flakes.

Nothing could be easier than tossing a few light snowy white flakes of Ivory Soap into a basin of warm water, then sousing the sweater, pressing it and squeezing it a few times, and rinsing.
That's all there is to it.

It really isn't work at all—and you know that there is no injury being done because Ivory Soap Flakes is simply the newest, most convenient form of genuine Ivory Soap, which you know has a forty year old reputation for absolute safety in fine laundering.

Ask your grocer for it.

IVORY SOAP FLAKES

for washing particular things

(Safe for Silks and All Fine Fabrics)

To Wash Sweaters

Soak for ten minutes in rich, lukewarm Ivory Soap Flakes suds; squeeze and press gently, under water, to expel the dirt. Use a second suds if sweater is badly soiled. Do not rub, pull or twist the knitted fabric. Do not lift the sweater out of the water without first slipping a towel under it, or the weight of the water may stretch it. Very loosely knitted sweaters should be sewed into a cheesecloth bag before washing. Rinse thoroughly in lukewarm water, adding a few Ivory Soap Flakes to the last rinse. Dry flat on a thick towel, in shade, pulling sweater into proper shape, and turning it occasionally.
